Labor Supply and Demand—and the Law

S. F. Argonaut.

There is a law on the United States statute books forbidding anybody to bring laborers into the country under contract of employment; and we hear a good deal of this law from time to time from labor agitators and others. At all the great ports of the country, including San Francisco, the government maintains a vigilant system of inspection, among other things, for the purpose of enforcing the anti-contract law above named. And yet, two years ago, when the labor shortage in South Carolina became grievous, due to the tendency of the blacks to abandon industry and take to vagabond ways of life, the authorities at Washington consented to an arrangement by which the Carolinian manufacturers engaged an immigration bureau and sent agents to Europe, where some thousands of working people of both sexes were picked up and brought over under contracts covering the cost of their passage, with promise of work upon their arrival. Today there are in various parts of South Carolina some thousands of persons working under these contracts, in open disregard of a plain law, but with the knowledge and approval of the State and the United States governments.

Again, there has been now for three or four years a continuous labor famine in the Hawaiian Islands. The natives have either died off or become worthless in the industries of the country. Japanese have come in in prodigious numbers, but so many have passed up to the American mainland—particularly to California—as to leave the island planters desperately shy in the matter of field hands. Hawaii, being an American Territory and duly subject to the national statutes, is definitely prohibited from importing laborers under contract. Nevertheless, in this case, as in that of South Carolina, administrative authority at Washington has practically nullified the law in response to a supreme need backed by a universal demand. With the consent of the government authorities at Washington, the Hawaiian planters last year sent agents to Spain and brought over a shipment of men, who were quickly distributed throughout the industrial district. This relief being relatively slight, the business of bringing in more workers is being prosecuted actively.

We note these instances because they tend to illustrate a broad fact, namely, that whenever a serious public need runs foul of a prohibitory law, the law has to give way, for no matter by what names you call them, or by what circumstances you surround them, laws are mere cowards which must be brushed aside when the motives of necessity become insistent. It will be so in California when our labor condition already very serious, shall take another turn for the bad. The agricultural producers of California are finding it difficult, and in special seasons and at special places impossible, to find hands for the work to be done. Only last week the Argonaut was informed by an intelligent observer in the orchard and vineyard district of which Yuba City is the center that the country is actually suffering for the commodity of labor. Two months ago we were informed that a fruit cannery at Los Gatos, in Santa Clara County, was compelled to shut down because there were not available a of life. It is a feeling common to the majority of us that we do not get quite the amount of happiness we are entitled to. Among the countless things which tend to make us more or less miserable ill health takes first place. Hannah More said that sin was generally to be attributed to biliousness. No doubt a crippled liver with the resulting impure blood, is the cause of more mental gloom than any other single thing. And who can reckon up the fearful aggregate of pain, loss and fear arising from the many diseases which are familiar to mankind; like a vast cloud it hangs over a multitude no one can number. You can see these people everywhere. For their life can scarcely be said to have any "bright side" at all. Hence the eagerness with which they search for relief and cure. Remedies like WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION have not attained their high position in the confidence of the people by bald assertions and boasting advertisements. They are obliged to win it by doing actually what is claimed for them. That this remedy deserves its reputation is conceded. It is palatable as honey and contains the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. Nothing has such a record of success in Scrofula, Influenza, Throat and Lung Troubles, and emaciating complaints and disorders that tend to undermine the foundations of strength and vigor. Its use helps to show life's brighter side. Professor Reddy, of Canada, says: "I have much pleasure in stating that I have used it in cases of debility and found it to be a very valuable remedy as well as pleasing to take." You cannot be disappointed in it. Sold by chemists.

sufficient number of hands to carry on its operations. These instances are simply straw taken from a mountain of the same kind of difficulties. All over the State there exists a condition so serious that wherever they can do it handovers are turning away from the kind of production which calls for cooperation of hands and are giving their energies to those primary forms of industry in which the element of labor is less essential. It hardly needs to be said that this is in every way bad for the country. It means the substitution of labor for higher forms of industry, the diversion of natural resources to less profitable account, with the concomitant of economic sacrifice, of reduced standards of industry, of eliminating that human factor which is so important an element in sustaining not only the business character of the country, but the social and moral power.

It hardly needs to be added that if the labor condition in California does not tend to correct itself—and we see nothing suggestive of that end—then California, following the example of South Carolina and Hawaii, must find the means of answering her need in the labor markets of the world. It is impossible that we shall consent to the sacrifice of what we have built up here, or that, unprofitably, we shall permit the work of development and progress to halt because labor unionism, in combination with political timidity and economic stupidity, has put a ban upon the only means possible for California to answer her necessities at the point of labor supply.

CHIEF OF FORESTRY SOUNDS A WARNING

Gifford Pinchot, who recently visited California to investigate the government reserves, has returned to Washington and made his report. A dispatch from Washington received last night says that Pinchot fears the timber supply will be soon exhausted unless steps are taken to protect the holdings.

"In twenty years the timber supply in the United States, on government reserves and private holdings, at the present rate of cutting, will be exhausted, although it is possible that the growth of that period might extend the arrival of this time another five years."

This is the announcement made by Pinchot.

In sounding his warning Pinchot urged that the danger of the situation should not be underestimated. He said that the United States uses more timber per capita than any other country, and that every man, woman and child would be affected. He described the policy of discounting the future of the country by failure to protect the natural resources, and he advised each one who has not already done so to read President Roosevelt's speech at Memphis on this general subject.

About one-fifth of the forest area of the country is in government reserves, but Pinchot called attention to the fact that as privately owned timber lands are better than the government reserves, as a general rule, the government does not control one-fifth of the timber supply. The forest service will ask Congress for more money and more men in order to extend the service, and will push the work of reforesting the denuded timber lands.

Pinchot says, however, that it is utterly beyond the possibility of the service to meet the situation and prevent serious trouble. One hope entertained is the Appalachian forest, and an effort will be made to protect this and promote the growth there.

A scheme advocated by the state forester of California is being watched with a great deal of interest. Under the police powers of the state the forester is endeavoring to protect the watersheds and prevent private owners from devastating these lands in such manner as will injure irrigation of lands below. If this plan works well the government forester believes it will be taken up in other states and federal authorities will be aided greatly by the cooperation.

In appealing for the protection of the natural resources, Pinchot said that there was a changing sentiment throughout the country and that people were beginning to see that the right to use such resources did not carry with it the right to destroy them. The forest service will make additional efforts to educate the people along this line.—San Francisco Call.

JAPANESE LABOR GRAFT.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 31.—A witness named Ishikawa, before Government Commissioner King, who is settling riot damages, declared today that four Japanese immigration companies operated in Vancouver. These companies were prepared to bring large numbers of men from Japan and had made large contracts with railway companies to supply laborers.

The system, he said, that the agents of the companies in Japan received a stated amount for supplying men for one, two or three years and sometimes longer, 10 per cent of every Oriental's wages being collected by the employment agency. This applied to domestic servants as well as mill hands and railway workmen. A boarding house keepers' union in Vancouver controlled the situation.

"Eunice says she is the unluckiest girl in the world." "What's the matter now?" "She was just about to marry a traveling man when he was admitted to the firm and now he will be at home all the time."—New York Globe.

THE CALL OF THE BLOOD IN DEBILITY

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Will Prevent

Most Cases and Have Cured Even

Those That Stubbornly Resist.

ed Treatment.

There are few cases of general debility that could not have been prevented. There is no hidden cause for its presence nor is it sudden in its attack. Any person who is over-worked, or subject to any great worry or excitement, or undergoes some long-continued strain on the body, is liable to become debilitated unless the blood is kept pure and rich. Such unusual conditions call for more nourishment than the blood can supply and pale ness, headaches, poor appetite, unrefreshing sleep, backaches, loss of spirits and a general tired-out feeling, which follow, are simply a call for a blood tonic and builder.

Mrs. Lena May Brooks, of Prairie Hall, Macon county, Ill., after several months of suffering finally found the right tonic in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. She says:

"For several months after the birth of my baby, I suffered terribly from a general breakdown in health. I was in bed for three months and after that was able to be up only part of the time. I was sick all over, being pale, weak and thin. My appetite was gone and my head ached most of the time. Oftentimes there seemed to be a rush of blood to my head and I would faint away. I was very nervous and was not strong enough to do any work."

"As the treatment I was taking did not help me, I began to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which a friend said had helped her. After taking a few boxes, I began to get well-rapidly. I continued using them for a time and am now as well and strong as ever."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured anemia, after-effects of the grip and fevers, rheumatism, indigestion, and nervousness, dizziness, neuralgia, St. Vitus' dance and are of the greatest value even in partial paralysis and locomotor ataxia.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50, by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.
